CAUSE NO. 9403201

BE IT REMEMBERED that upon this the

and numbered cause came on for continued competency hearing before the Honorable William T. Harmon, Judge of the 178th District Court of Harris County, Texas, and a jury; and the State appearing by counsel and the Defendant appearing in person and by counsel, the following proceedings were had, viz:

1 THE COURT: Both sides ready to 2 proceed?

3 MS. ALCALA: Yes, sir.

4 THE COURT: You may call your next 5 witness.

6 MS. ALCALA: Doctor Brown.

7 THE COURT: Doctor Brown, please raise 8 your right hand.

9 (Oath administered to witness Doctor
10 Brown by the court)

11 JEROME BROWN

12 was called as a witness by the State and, having 13 been duly sworn, testified as follows:

14 DIRECT EXAMINATION

15 BY MS. ALCALA:

16 Q. Can you, please, state your name?

17 A. Jerome Banks Brown.

18 Q. Where do you work, sir?

19 A. I am a mental health professional and 20 clinical psychologist.

21 Q. Do you have a practice?

22 A. Yes, I do.

23 Q. What's the name of your practice?

24 A. I'm in practice with a group of 25 associates called Brown Nelson Petzoid &

1 criminal defendants in the jail, how is it that 2 that comes about?

3 A. Well, I'm a member of what they call
4 the Harris County Forensic Psychiatry Unit, 5 which is a county supported group of mental 6 health professionals, both psychiatrists and 7 psychologists, who examine criminal defendants 8 upon court order regarding their competency to 9 stand trial or their sanity at the time the 10 offense occurred.

11 Q. How many of you all are in that group 12 that are chosen to see defendants at the jail?

13 A. I think right now there are about six 14 of us that do the work.

15 Q. Okay. Can you name them?

16 A. Yes. There is Doctor Silverman,
17 Doctor Ubah, Doctor Jennings, Doctor Stone, 18 there was a Doctor Arfa until recently, and 19 myself.

20 Q. And who picks those individuals to 21 form up this group of five or six people and see 22 people at the jail?

23 A. They're hired by the Harris County
24 Mental Health and Mental Retardation Authority, 25 and the administration of that authority hire

1 the mental health professionals on contract.

2 Q. Do they have any -- I am sorry -- do 3 they have any qualifications or standards to 4 decide who they're going to pick to do these 5 types of psychiatric evaluations?

6 A. Yes. They must be licensed mental 7 health professionals in the state in which they 8 practice. The psychiatrists I think have to be 9 board certified. The psychologists have to be 10 licensed, have a background or experience or 11 history in forensic psychology, which is 12 courtroom testimony, courtroom examinations.

13 Q. Who is the least experienced out of 14 the six of y'all?

15 A. Doctor Jenkins, probably.

16 Q. And how long has he been in practice?

17 A. He has been doing this work with the 18 unit for about two years now.

19 Q. Everybody else has been there longer 20 than that?

21 A. Yes.

22 Q. So how does that work? Who then tells 23 you which inmate to go do a psychiatric 24 evaluation on?

25 A. Well, we do it, of course, on court

1 order, so the first thing we do is receive a
2 court order sent from the court of jurisdiction, 3 and the cases are assigned to the members of the 4 unit on a rotating basis; just as they come in,
5 they're assigned, we see them as they're 6 assigned to us.

7 Q. So the judge appoints the individuals 8 who do that work for MHMRA to see a person at 9 the jail?

10 A. Well, he will send it to the forensic 11 unit, then the rotation of the unit will 12 determine who exactly does the work.

13 Q. So one of the five or six of y'all
14 would then see the person?

15 A. That's right.

16 Q. Okay. Tell me a little bit about your 17 education and your background that enables you 18 to be a psychologist.

19 A. Well, I have a bachelor's degree from 20 Rice University I received in 1963 in 21 psychology; then attended University of Houston
22 graduate school of psychology where I completed 23 master's in 1967, then a Ph.D. degree in 24 clinical psychology in 1969. I served a two 25 year internship at the Houston V.A. Medical

1 Center in the psychiatry section, and for the 2 past twenty-five years have been practicing as a
3 licensed psychologist in the State of Texas.

4 Q. What is forensic psychology?

5 A. Forensic psychology is the application
6 of the profession of psychology to courtroom
7 matters or courtroom cases.

8 Q. And is that what you do in fact in 9 your position with the MHMRA?

10 A. That's right.

11 Q. How long have you been doing what you
12 do for the MHMRA?

13 A. About twenty-five years

14 Q. Okay. Interviewing defendants at the 15 jail?

16 A. That's right.

17 Q. All right. And how many times, then, 18 or how many years have you been examining 19 defendants to decide the issue of competency?

20 A. Twenty-five years.

21 Q. All right. Can you possibly tell us a 22 number of people that you have seen in the past 23 twenty-five years to decide whether they're 24 competent to stand trial?

25 A. It would be about five to six thousand

1 defendants.

2 Q. Okay. Of those people, have you found 3 that some of those people are incompetent to 4 stand trial?

5 A. Oh, yes, there are many of them that 6 are.

7 Q. And have you also found that some of 8 them are competent to stand trial?

9 A. That's right.

10 Q. Did you in fact see a person by the 11 name of Gerald Eldridge?

12 A. Yes.

13 Q. And where was that and when did you 14 see him?

15 A. I first saw Mr. Eldridge on October 16 13th of '93.

17 Q. Did you see him again?

18 A. Yes, I did.

19 Q. And when was that?

20 A. That was on February 18th of this year.

21 Q. All right. Were you the psychologist
22 who initially was assigned to Mr. Eldridge?

23 A. I don't think so. I think Doctor
24 Silverman was the first one to see him.

25 Q. That was a random assignment?

1           A.    Yes.

2           Q.    We mentioned a little while ago board
3 certified. Is there such a thing as board 4 certified psychologists?

5           A.    No, there is not. There is not an 6 equivalent qualification for psychologists. The 7 license usually allows them to practice in their 8 area of competence.

9           Q.    So only board certified psychiatrists?

10          A.    That's right.

11          Q.    But you referred to them as licensed; 12 is that right?

13          A.    Right.

14          Q.    And you said that you are licensed in 15 psychology?

16          A.    Yes.

17          Q.    What do you have to do to get licensed 18 in psychology?

19          A.    Well, you have to submit your academic 20 credentials and training credentials to the 21 Texas State Board of Examiners of Psychologists, 22 then you have to pass a written exam as well as 23 an oral exam.

24          Q.    When did you become licensed in 25 psychology?

1           A.     Well, the licensing law began in Texas
2     in 1971. I was licensed at that time.

3           Q.     All right. Do you know if Doctor
4     Silverman is licensed in psychology?

5           A.     Yes, I know he is.

6           Q.     We were talking about the fact that 7     you saw Mr. Eldridge at the jail. If you 8     weren't the initial psychologist assigned to 9     him, how is it that you got involved in his 10    case?

11          A.     It's not unusual, it did happen in 12    this case that a second opinion was requested by 13    Doctor Silverman.

14          Q.     Why would a psychologist who is 15    deciding the issue of competency want a second 16    opinion? Why would he himself ask for a second 17    opinion?

18          A.     Usually because the case provides some 19    kind of difficulty or special nature that the 20    assistance or opinion of another colleague would 21    be helpful to either the court or to the 22    psychologist making the referral. If there is 23    any kind of question that might come up about 24    his competency at that time, a second opinion is 25    often requested.

1           Q.    Have you yourself asked for second 2 opinions before?

3           A.    Yes, I have.

4           Q.    Did you give a second opinion in this 5 case?

6           A.    Yes, I did.

7           Q.    Tell the jury what your opinion was,
8 based on your evaluation of Mr. Eldridge when 9 you saw him first in October.

10          A.    The opinion that I formulated after my 11 contact with Mr. Eldridge in October was that he 12 was malingering or feigning mental illness.

13          Q.    Then you told me you saw him again in 14 February of '94. What is your opinion or your 15 evaluation of Mr. Eldridge in February of 1994?

16          A.    I felt the same about him. I felt he 17 was still trying to fake mental illness.

18          Q.    I want to break this down so that we 19 don't get confused about what happened in one
20 session versus what happened in another
21 session. So I first want to talk to you about 22 your October evaluation.

23                Did you make a report in that case?

24          A.    Yes, I did.

25          Q.    And do you have the report with you

1 right now?

2 A. Yes, I do.

3 Q. Okay. And would you periodically be 4 looking at the report to refresh your memory?

5 A. Yes. I think it's there on your desk
6 right now. You have it, but I did review it, 7 yes.

8 Q. Do you have your report with you or 9 not?

10 A. Not at this moment, no.

11 Q. Okay. All right.

12 A. Let me check my case. Here it is. I 13 have it in my briefcase.

14 Q. Okay. I'd gotten worried.

15 Let me first talk to you about when 16 you saw him in October. Give me the date first 17 when you saw him in October.

18 A. October 13th.

19 Q. All right, 1993?

20 A. Right.

21 Q. Then you filed your report on what day?

22 A. Probably four, five days later.

23 Q. What date is on your report that you 24 did your report?

25 A. October 13th. That's when I dictated

1 the report, right after I saw Mr. Eldridge.

2 Q. Tell me about that session. First,
3 generally what did you do in that session in 4 terms of what -- how long were you with him?

5 A. Probably fifteen or twenty minutes. I
6 need to point out this was not a usual
7 examination of this man. He was behaving in a 8 very uncooperative way, so I was not able to 9 perform the usual kind of examination of a 10 defendant.

11 Q. Okay. So, in that time period, tell 12 me, generally speaking, what you did, then we'll 13 get into specifics after that.

14 A. Well, the procedure that was followed 15 was more or less the same as is always 16 followed. He was transferred from his jail tank
17 in the central jail building to the third floor 18 of the forensic psychiatric unit where we see 19 all defendants, and was placed in a holdover
20 cell there for awhile. Then, when I came to see 21 him, or get him, he was taken from the holdover 22 cell by one of the psychiatric aids on the 23 floor, brought together with me around the 24 corner to an interview room, where we sat down, 25 and I would start talking at that point. At

1 that point, though, things varied from the usual 2 evaluation from then on.

3 Q. When he got into the room with you,
4 what was the first thing that happened?

5 A. As I recall, he was fairly compliant 6 coming to the interview room. Sat down and 7 began shaking his leg vigorously at that point.

8 Q. Then what happened?

9 A. I then asked him if he knew if the 10 evaluation was going to take place or if he knew 11 that he was going to be seeing a doctor. He 12 didn't respond to this. I then tried to give 13 him his warning. In other words, I say warning, 14 it's a statement we make at the beginning of the 15 interview that the person can end the interview 16 at anytime, they can refuse to answer the 17 questions if they wish and that the purpose of 18 the evaluation was to determine if they're able 19 to participate in court and go ahead with the 20 court proceedings that will be taking place. I 21 wasn't able to finish this because he started 22 moaning and putting his head in his hands and 23 rubbing his head very vigorously with his hands
24 at that point.

25 Q. Can you show the jury what he was

1       doing?

2           A.     Well, kind of leaning over like this,
3       his hands doing like that. He would then start 4       talking about don't let them kill me. He would 5       cry, but there were no tears. In other words, 6       he sobbed and things, but there were no tears
7       evident. Then his leg stopped shaking as he was 8       doing this. His leg didn't shake anymore after 9       that except on occasion when he would be sitting 10      still, then his leg would start shaking again, 11      then he'd stop after a couple of minutes. He 12      continued like this pretty much through the time 13      I talked with him. He wouldn't answer any 14      questions directly. He said "I don't know" to 15      almost any question asked, even simple questions 16      such as when was his birthday, what's his full 17      name, where was he born, how far did he go in 18      school, what his home address was. So he said
19      he didn't know any of this or did not respond 20      when I asked.

21           Q.     So he doesn't even known his own 22      name?

23           A.     Right.

24           Q.     What other information did you try to 25      get from him?

1           A.     I asked him how long he had been in 2 jail, asked him whether or not he had an 3 attorney. He said he didn't know to these. He 4 would also spontaneously just say things, they 5 weren't answers to questions, would just start 6 making statements like they want to kill all the 7 blacks or they want to kill me, don't let them 8 kill me, then he said later that he wanted to 9 run away, he said mean lady burned a candle on 10 him, you know, fairly nonsensical kind of 11 arbitrary statements like this. After it became 12 evident that he wasn't going to answer questions
13 directly, that he wasn't going to cooperate, 14 that he would continue in these theatrical and 15 contrived behaviors, I determined that he was 16 uncooperative and unavailable for any reasonable
17 interviewing and I asked him to follow me back 18 to the holdover tank, at which point he refused
19 or did not move. Then it was necessary to call 20 in the psychiatric aids. They talked him into 21 coming with them, which he did, but then he 22 scuffled with the aids trying to put him back 23 into the holdover tank, and was given, was 24 subdued but had to be given a shot of a mild 25 tranquilizer in order to calm down. He had

1 worked himself up into some kind of I would say
2 emotional state that was very agitated and upset 3 by that time.

4 Q. Okay. Were you able to get any more
5 information from him other than I don't know to 6 every question?

7 A. Not really, no. He never answered a
8 question directly; all he would do would make 9 these statements, these peculiar statements.

10 Q. All right. Did you review any records
11 at that point before coming to your diagnosis 12 that you thought he was malingering?

13 A. Yes, I did.

14 Q. What records did you review?

15 A. At that point, I reviewed the 16 treatment unit records, because he was already 17 on the treatment unit for observation at that 18 time, I think at Doctor Silverman's request.
19 And the treatment unit records pretty well
20 confirmed what I was feeling by then anyway, 21 which was that he was faking mental illness.

22 Q. What did you find to be particularly 23 significant from the treatment records with 24 regard to malingering?

25 A. Well, by October 13th of '93, he had

1       been seen by, you know, large number of forensic
2       unit staff, caseworkers; he'd been on the unit
3       for like six weeks in early 1993; he was there 4       again in October of '93, where he was seen by 5       other members of the forensic psychiatric unit
6       staff. The opinions that I found in the records 7       were quite consistent. There was never any 8       question on anyone's part who saw him, even the 9       psychiatric residents who were in training there 10      were of the impression that he was malingering.
11      So, again, among the treatment unit staff that I
12      had access to, including the notes, observations
13      written down by the doctors there on the unit, 14      it was very consistent. In fact, it was 15      unanimous that he was faking, that he was not 16      really suffering from any severe mental illness.

17           Q.    You talked about his presentation to 18      you. I mean, I guess you would agree that what 19      you observed in your interviewing of him was 20      bizarre?

21           A.    Yes.

22           Q.    All right. So why is it, then, that 23      you look at the bizarre behavior and that you 24      decide that it's malingering rather than looking 25      at that behavior in deciding that it is a

1 genuine mental illness of some kind?

2 A. Well, like any other disorder,
3 disease, mental illness has certain specific 4 symptoms that lead to a diagnosis. You know, 5 you have a,b,c,d symptoms that show that the 6 person has this particular mental illness. Now, 7 in Mr. Eldridge's case, he didn't show those 8 symptoms. He showed peculiar behaviors, 9 inappropriate behaviors, but he didn't show any 10 of the symptoms that could be lined up to say 11 this is characteristic of this mental illness, 12 therefore, my diagnosis is mental illness. He 13 gave a scattered kind of presentation of 14 different kinds of crazy behaviors, none of 15 which fit into any known diagnostic category.
16 Second thing is that his behavior is 17 inconsistent. He doesn't do the same thing over 18 and over again. He does different things at 19 different times, which, again, is unusual, is 20 not typical of mental illness that we know and 21 would diagnose. Most lay people don't 22 understand what mental illness really looks like 23 and what causes a diagnosis of mental illness to 24 be given, but they know a few things, they've 25 seen tv, movies, things like this, they know

1 enough to show a few little things here and 2 there, but they don't understand what the most 3 important symptoms are, they don't understand 4 what the critical symptoms are, they don't 5 understand that you have to be consistent in 6 these symptoms, that they just don't develop all 7 of a sudden. All of these things went into the 8 evaluation of Mr. Eldridge; and he came up very, 9 very short. He simply did not fit any 10 diagnostic category.

11 Q. Okay. So, to see if I understand you, 12 you base your opinion on two things -- one is 13 that the behavior was too extreme and too
14 different so that it didn't fit into any known 15 medical mental disorder?

16 A. That's right. His behavior was 17 theatrical, it was dramatic, it was excessive, 18 and it was inconsistent with any group or 19 cluster of symptoms that would lead to a 20 definite diagnosis of mental illness.

21 Q. And, so, it would lead you to believe 22 that he was faking it because there's no such 23 thing as what he was acting like?

24 A. That's right. That's the only way to 25 explain his behavior.

1           Q.    Then the second thing I think you said 2   is that his behavior was inconsistent, that he 3   would change at different intervals.  Am I 4   understanding you correctly?

5           A.    Yes.

6           Q.    If somebody then asked you, well,
7   isn't it true that people with mental illness
8   sometimes have different symptoms?

9           A.    They do, yes.

10          Q.    How would you explain that, then, to 11   explain why you felt it was malingering rather 12   than somebody who has a mental illness but is 13   just exhibiting different symptoms at different 14   times?

15          A.    Well, because, even though he may have 16   some different symptoms, the core symptoms, the 17   critical symptoms, what the psychiatric 18   residents learn in medical school are the four 19   A's, for example.  They give you a diagnosis of 20   schizophrenia.  Those things have to be present
21   all the time.  They don't change much.  Now, 22   perhaps the contents sometimes will change of a
23   delusion, you know, one day you think that Mars
24   is, you know, sending x-rays through your brain, 25   next day the x-rays are coming from the C.I.A.,

1 you're going to have small, you know,
2 differences like that, but the fact that he is 3 exhibiting what we call thought insertion or 4 thought broadcasting, you see, would be 5 consistent, and Mr. Eldridge showed none of the 6 core or critical symptoms of severe mental 7 illness.

8 Q. Is there anything else that you feel 9 would help explain to the jury your opinion back
10 in October of 1993 regarding why you thought it
11 was malingering? Anything else in that report 12 that we haven't covered?

13 A. Well, I mean, I think the report
14 speaks for itself, and, I mean, there is a list 15 I made of about twenty things here that would 16 indicate he was not really mentally ill. I
17 might mention a couple just to emphasize what I 18 am saying.

19 Q. You can mention all of them actually.

20 A. First of all, his personal hygiene was 21 fine. Okay, once again, one of the things you 22 very often see with the seriously mentally ill 23 are the breakdown in personal hygiene and their 24 ability to keep themselves neat. They're 25 disheveled often, they smell bad because they

1 have not taken a shower. So, Mr. Eldridge was 2 fine in this respect. The leg shaking is 3 interesting. The leg shaking only really occurs
4 as a medication side effect. You rarely see 5 this kind of behavior without medication causing 6 it. It's part of what we call tardive 7 dyskinesia, which is a side effect of some of 8 the tranquilizers that are used for some of the 9 mentally ill people. Other thing is, of course, 10 they keep their leg shaking constantly because 11 it's not a voluntary thing, it's an agitation
12 caused by the medicine, so you have the leg 13 shaking constantly. Even the person looking at 14 it is kind of, you know, bothered by it. He 15 doesn't like it either but it keeps going.

16 Q. Let me stop you right there. Can you
17 show me with your leg for just a second what you 18 mean by leg shaking.

19 A. Well, kind of like this. It's hard to 20 do yourself voluntarily because your muscles
21 aren't being done that way by the medicine. I 22 don't have medicine in me that does this, but 23 it's kind of like a vigorous shaking.

24 Q. Like a jerking motion?

25 A. Yes.

1 Q. Short jerking motion?

2 A. Again, bad idea for Mr. Eldridge to 3 pick this particular symptom because it's very 4 hard to keep it up for fifteen or twenty minutes
5 at a time; also hard to keep it up in your jail 6 tank when you go back to your jail tank sitting 7 there with a bunch of other inmates, got to sit 8 there with your leg shaking twenty-four hours a 9 day. That's pretty hard to do.

10 Q. You told me at some point he was 11 prescribed Atavan. Just for clarification, 12 would that sign or symptom, the leg shaking,
13 have anything to do with Atavan?

14 A. No.

15 Q. So that couldn't of caused it?

16 A. He was given the Atavan after.

17 Q. Was he ever prescribed any other drugs
18 beside Atavan?

19 A. According to my review of the records, 20 he was never prescribed any type of psychiatric 21 medicine except that he received that one shot 22 to calm him down because he was agitated.

23 Q. To your knowledge, he was never under 24 any kind of medication that would cause the leg 25 jerking?

1           A.    Not to my knowledge, no.

2           Q.    He didn't keep up the leg jerking, so
3 I guess it really wouldn't matter.

4           A.    Right.

5           Q.    What was the next sign that you can 6 point to to show that it's malingering rather 7 than some genuine mental illness.

8           A.    Well, one of the more creative and 9 dramatic symptoms that he showed, I think, is 10 the head scratching. He started doing that when 11 I first brought him into the room. He pretty 12 well kept it up throughout the contact with him; 13 he kept scratching his head so much he drew some 14 blood on the top of his head, wasn't bad, but 15 you could see some blood on the top of his 16 head. It was noted, I think, one other time in 17 the treatment notes he did this one other time.
18 Again, this kind of behavior is what we call a 19 compulsive symptom. This kind of behavior, if 20 it were truly a symptom or behavior, would be 21 happening repeatedly; it would be happening so 22 much that he'd have to be restrained or 23 something would have to be done with his hands 24 if he really had done that as part of the mental 25 illness.

1 Q. Let me stop you right there. He did
2 that in front of you one time; is that right?

3 A. Right.

4 Q. Okay. Can you show the jury what you
5 mean when you talk about head scratching?

6 A. Well, you know, his head is very close
7 shaven, he was essentially very close-cropped.
8 He had no hair really, it was all cut or shaved
9 back or something. And he would just sit there 10 and just do like this, keep doing it until about 11 halfway through the interview you could see some 12 little specks of blood start coming out of his 13 scalp because he was rubbing so hard he was 14 scratching with his nails too.

15 Q. So scratching with both hands
16 backwards and forward on top of his head?

17 A. Yeah, uh-hum.

18 Q. You said it happened one other time.
19 Do you know the date of the other incident?

20 A. It was at the next time he was on the 21 treatment unit. It was somewhere around maybe 22 December or so of '93 or January of '94.

23 Q. About?

24 A. Might be in my notes here. I think 25 it's in Ms. Callahan's notes. Yes, that was in

1 the note upon admission for the second
2 observation period, and that was in January of 3 '93. Something like that, anyway. The 4 admission note indicates that he was scratching 5 his head at that time. But this behavior was 6 not repeated during the rest of the time he was 7 on the unit.

8 Q. So two times, to your knowledge?

9 A. Yeah. I am sorry, it may have been in 10 October of '93 that he was admitted to the unit.

11 Q. Let me show you this note, see if it 12 helps you or not. It may not.

13 A. Yeah, this is it. This is what, ten, 14 13, of '93.

15 Q. So, to your knowledge, it happened 10, 16 13 of '93. So when you saw him, which was 10--

17 A. 13, same day.

18 Q. 13. So two times in one day?

19 A. Yes.

20 Q. He made his head bleed?

21 A. It was not noted as repeating itself 22 ever again.

23 Q. Why would that be significant?

24 A. Well, again, if this kind of behavior 25 is occurring and he is doing something that's

1 kind of repetitive and kind of damaging to 2 himself, you would see those behaviors occur on 3 a regular basis.

4 Q. And you didn't?

5 A. And they didn't happen, no. Once
6 again, it's inconsistent. He can demonstrate 7 the behavior once or twice but then he can't 8 keep it up. In the true mentally ill person, 9 you would see those behaviors continually.

10 Q. What else? I think you told me about 11 three things. Give me some of the things you 12 could point to.

13 A. Well, another interesting
14 inconsistency is at one point he said don't let 15 them kill me, then later he said he wanted to 16 die, which again doesn't really happen.

17 Q. Well, so, you're saying somebody with 18 genuine mental illness would be one or the 19 other?

20 A. Yes.

21 Q. Do you find people that have both or 22 not?

23 A. Not in the same time period, no.

24 Q. Not like within the half hour?

25 A. No, you don't see that.

1           Q.    What else can you point to?

2           A.    He reported near the time of admission
3 that he was hearing the voice of Willie. Again, 4 that's in the treatment notes. He said nothing 5 like this to me. It's also interesting that he 6 had a struggle with psychiatric aids when they 7 put him back into the holdover tank. Almost 8 always, with the really mentally ill, people are 9 rarely agitated or rarely combative. Sometimes 10 they get that way because they don't want to 11 leave the tank, they don't want to be brought 12 out of the tank. In other words, they feel 13 relatively safe at that particular moment. They 14 don't want to come back and see me, I'm a 15 stranger, they're suspicious of me, they don't 16 want to have their safe place threatened, so 17 they refuse to come out. The aids have to come 18 in there and drag them out sometimes. But in 19 Mr. Eldridge's case they had to drag him back 20 in, so, once again, inconsistent.

21          Q.    So he wanted to be with people I guess 22 you would look at it?

23          A.    Or at least he wanted to be in a place
24 that he knew. I'm saying the genuinely mentally 25 ill wouldn't want that.

1 Q. Right.

2 A. They don't like to be in strange
3 places or seeing strange people. That makes 4 them feel threatened. But in Mr. Eldridge's 5 case, he didn't want to be put back.

6 Q. Is there anything else that you can 7 point to?

8 A. Well, Mr. Eldridge has also around the 9 time I saw him and consistently refused
10 psychological testing. This is another hallmark
11 of malingering, I would say. It's rare that you 12 see mentally ill people who really don't want to 13 do the psychological testing. Now, if they're 14 really paranoid, really suspicious, they would 15 sometimes refuse, but Mr. Eldridge does not 16 really exhibit any paranoid traits, at least in 17 terms of feeling that the staff or someone like 18 that was going to harm him or that the other 19 inmates around him were going to harm him, which 20 is what you typically see. He would make 21 general statements about don't let them kill me, 22 things like that, but he never indicated that he 23 was threatened by any of the staff or any of the 24 other inmates, which again is inconsistent. So, 25 anyway, the refusal of psychological testing is

1 often taken as an indication that they don't 2 want to put themselves in position of having to 3 do the test because, of course, they don't know 4 how to look bad on a psychological test or what 5 might be a bad response, and he consistently
6 refused that throughout his stay on both times 7 on the psychiatric unit.

8 Q. Are there any other things that you 9 can point out at this time regarding signs that 10 would lead you to believe that it's malingering?

11 A. That's pretty much everything for the 12 October interview, yes.

13 Q. All right. I want to now then turn to 14 the next visit, which is on February 18th of 15 1994. How is it that you got involved with this 16 case again in February of '94?

17 A. Well, I think Doctor Silverman saw him
18 again, I think actually the day before I saw 19 him, and requested I think once again that I see 20 him again as a follow up.

21 Q. When Doctor Silverman is asking you to 22 give a second opinion, does he tell you his 23 thoughts on the case? I mean, do y'all have a 24 discussion about Mr. Eldridge?

25 A. No, we typically don't. We like to

1 form our own opinions. Now, I did talk to him
2 after I saw Mr. Eldridge on October 13th.

3 Q. But Silverman saw him first, I guess,
4 in October?

5 A. Right.

6 Q. Then you saw him. And, so, your 7 testimony is that you two did not discuss why
8 Silverman was asking for a second opinion other 9 than he was asking for a second opinion; is that 10 a fair statement?

11 A. That's a fair statement.

12 Q. And is that because he doesn't want to 13 bias you to look for something or not look for 14 something?

15 A. Right. Start with a clean slate and 16 develop our own opinions independently of what 17 other psychologists think and then we come 18 together and discuss whatever our findings were.

19 Q. Have there been times when you
20 disagreed with Doctor Silverman?

21 A. It happens occasionally.

22 Q. What about him disagreeing with you?

23 A. Yes. If that's the case, then next 24 step would be to see him together, person 25 together, see if we could resolve our

1 differences.

2 Q. So it's not like you felt you had to 3 come to the same diagnosis as him?

4 A. No. It happens sometimes.

5 Q. Okay. So now we're talking about 6 February of '94. And I guess at this point you
7 both know that you both previously said he was a 8 malingerer?

9 A. Yes.

10 Q. Tell me about that visit in February.
11 What was the first thing that happened?

12 A. Well, this time I saw Mr. Eldridge in 13 the holdover tank itself. In other words, I
14 didn't bring him out to the interview room. I
15 didn't know what to expect of his behavior, so I 16 interviewed him actually in the day area of the 17 jail tank itself, and where he had been there
18 for a little while, I came into there, sat down 19 at one of the metal tables that are actually 20 welded to the floor, everything is stationary, 21 then the aids brought him over, sat him down in 22 front of me. And, so, the interview took place
23 at that point.

24 Q. What was the first thing that 25 happened? What did you do first or what did he

1 do first?

2 A. Well, once again, told him who I was,
3 told him that I wanted to see him again, see if 4 he was feeling any better, and once again 5 started asking him about, you know, what's 6 happened to him or how has he been feeling since 7 I saw him the last time, and he said something 8 like, the bossman hit me, told me just to sign
9 the papers. And, so, then we had a conversation 10 about who the bossman was. He kept doing like 11 this, you know, trying to indicate a badge,
12 although for some reason I guess he couldn't say
13 the word badge, but he did that. Then he said 14 he was tired, that he wanted to go home. His 15 demeanor and composure was very different than 16 the first time I saw it. There was no
17 agitation, no getting upset, no working himself
18 into a state, he just had kind of a depressed
19 look on his face, said he was tired, he wanted 20 to go home. Although he wasn't cooperative with 21 me the second time, either. He really didn't 22 answer any questions directly except to say what 23 he did about the bossman in response to my 24 question about how he was feeling. On this 25 occasion, he also complained about they keep

1 moving me and moving me. When I asked why he 2 was here, he stated, "I go to court, I don't 3 make trouble." So this is the first statement
4 on Mr. Eldridge's part that he knows something 5 about a court, but it's also revealing that 6 supposedly before now, before that time, he 7 didn't know anything about anything. Certainly 8 didn't know anything about why he was in jail or 9 going to court. He then said something, "I'm 10 just tired, I'll do whatever they want me to 11 do." I asked him, "What do they want you to do, 12 what do you mean?" He says he is tired again, 13 he got up, he walked out.

14 Q. Okay. So how long did that visit 15 last?

16 A. Well, only lasted about five or ten 17 minutes.

18 Q. So he just walked out?

19 A. Right. And he was clearly irritable.
20 But, you know, I kind of sympathized at that 21 point with Mr. Eldridge because if I had been 22 doing all the work he had been doing to fool 23 everybody I'd be tired, too. But my 24 interpretation of that is he's getting tired of 25 the game but he was still playing. But, anyway,
